

Pavilion Alternative Packaging Solutions

FACHPACK is the European trade fair for packaging, technology and processes for the packaging industry and its customers. It is the place to meet solution-orientated future thinkers who exhibit their innovative packaging solutions. In 2025, 32,000 trade visitors, one in three of them from abroad, took advantage of the opportunity to find out about the latest trends and innovations at the stands of the 1,381 exhibitors and to discuss packaging issues with experts.

At BIOFACH, the international organic sector joins at the world's leading trade fair for organic products in Nuremberg. All players along the entire value chain meet here - regionally, nationally, and internationally. Four eventful days, on which in February 2026 with around 32,000 visitors and 2,150 exhibitors, the entire organic community came together in Nuremberg to prepare the way for many current and forward-looking topics.

Both exhibitions together offer manufacturers of packaging materials, packaging aids and food producers the capacity-optimised participation in the "Alternative Packaging Solutions" pavilion and the possibility of presenting their products in a themed manner and in the appropriate product environment. With a single preparation, the trade fair appearance therefore includes simple and uncomplicated participation in two events.

Be there, get to know our trade fairs and take advantage of the synergies and the opportunity to present your company to an interested trade audience from both sectors!

Exemplary representations, no legal claim.

BIOFACH also has special admission criteria also for non-food products and wants to ensure that the materials and production of packaging for the exhibited products are environmentally friendly. Please check whether your packaging solutions comply with these. You can find further information here:
